

TYPICAL ANSWER OF THE FIRST SEMESTER EXAM IN ENGLISHQ1: True or False (5 marks)

1. False - Earthquakes cannot be easily predicted by scientists.
2. False - Time clauses in English do not use future tense (will) but rather the present tense to describe future activities.
3. True - The damage caused by an earthquake depends on its distance from the epicenter.
4. True - The rigidity of soil can be lost due to soil liquefaction during an earthquake.
5. True - Volcanic earthquakes generally have weaker magnitudes compared to tectonic earthquakes.

Q2: Match the Sentence (6 marks)

1. Earthquakes occur due to the movement of tectonic plates. → b
2. The intensity of an earthquake is measured by the Richter scale. → a
3. Volcanic earthquakes happen due to volcanic activity. → c
4. The epicenter of an earthquake is the center point of energy dispersion. → d
5. Earthquake tremors can cause landslides in hilly areas. → f
6. Soil liquefaction is one of the major effects of earthquakes. → e

Q3: Complete the Sentences (5 marks)

1. The sudden movement of tectonic plates under the earth's surface causes earthquakes.
2. Earthquakes are measured by the Richter scale.
3. Volcanic earthquakes are categorized into two types: volcano-tectonic and long-period earthquakes.
4. Collapse earthquakes occur in caverns and mines.
5. Tsunamis caused by earthquakes can lead to massive loss of life.

Q4: Time Clauses (4 marks)

1. I'll call you as soon as you get home.
2. We'll go for a trip when they have repaired our car.
3. The ground started shaking when the earthquake began.
4. Don't stand up until I tell you.
5. You cannot leave until I tell you.